SANE EATING OVERVIEW

A SANE lifestyle is as simple as staying so full of non-starchy vegetables, nutrient-dense protein, whole food fats, and low-fructose fruits—in that order—so you don't have room for inSANE processed starches, sweets, and trans-fats. When eating out, pass on the pasta and rice and ask your server to “hold the starch but double the vegetables.” At home, skip the rolls and enjoy a larger helping of a protein-packed main course and two or three extra helpings of non-starchy vegetables.

When picking which foods to eat more of, the SANE approach is keeping your selections as close to a plant you could gather or an animal you could hunt. Why? Generally speaking, the more natural something is, the more SANE it is. This point has nothing to do with eating organic versus non-organic food. Until someone discovers a Cheerios tree, a pasta plant, or a bread bush, non-organic spinach or blueberries are more SANE than organic Cheerios, pasta, or bread. Think of it almost like paint by numbers, making your SANE plate look like this:

Modern science has also discovered that within the primary SANE food groups of Non-Starchy Vegetables, Nutritious Protein, Whole-Food Fats, and Low-Fructose Fruits there are optimal options that will fast track your progress! All of the food lists below provide common examples. They are not exhaustive. There are way too many SANE food options to list them all!

SANE SERVING SIZES

Here are some guidelines to help determine how many serving of each type of food you are taking in each time you eat.

Keep in mind that everything related to serving sizes is a general guideline. It is easy to get mired in details and to complicate things. Please stay focused on the big picture and use these guidelines to estimate your intake as accurately as you can.

As a general rule, most people wildly underestimate their starch, sweets, oil, and cheese intake. A bagel is at least four servings of starch, not one.

A big bowl of enriched sweetened cereal is four servings of starch and four servings of sweets, not one serving of starch. It's easy to eat four servings of pasta in a single sitting.

On the other hand, your estimate about a serving of nutrient-dense protein and non-starchy vegetables is probably quite close. No need to buy a food scale. Just increase your estimates around servings of starches, sweets, oils, and cheeses.

NON-STARCHY VEGETABLES (10+ SERVINGS PER DAY)

If raw and leafy, a serving is the size of two of your fists. If raw and not leafy, a serving is the size of your fist. If cooked, a serving is a little smaller than the size of your fist.

Most people stop eating naturally at about three servings in a single sitting. It is practically impossible to overeat non-starchy vegetables. You would get too full.

Examples of a single serving of non-starchy vegetables:

- Two heaping cups of raw leafy green vegetables
- Six asparagus spears
- Eight baby carrots
- Five broccoli florets
- One Roma tomato
- Four slices of an onion
- Five cherry tomatoes
- Five sticks of celery
- One whole carrot
- A half cup of cooked spinach
- 1 TBSP whole-food veggie power

NUTRIENT-DENSE PROTEIN (3 TO 6 SERVINGS PER DAY)

A serving contains about 30 grams of protein and is about the size of a man's hand.

Most people would stop eating naturally at two servings in a single sitting. Except men trying to “prove their manhood” at barbeques, it is practically impossible to overeat nutrient-dense protein. You would get uncomfortably full.

Examples of a single serving:

- A piece of humanely raised meat or fish about the size of your hand
- A heaping cup of cottage cheese or plain Greek yogurt
- Four tablespoons of pure unflavored whey protein concentrate
- One whole egg + five egg whites
- Eight egg whites
- A can of tuna

WHOLE-FOOD FATS (3 TO 6 SERVINGS PER DAY)

A serving is about the size your middle and pointer finger side by side. If the nuts are mashed into butter (that is, natural nut butter), a serving is the size of your thumb. Two whole eggs are a serving. When combined with non-starchy vegetables and nutrient-dense protein, most people would stop eating naturally at two servings in a single sitting.

Examples of a single serving of less common whole-food fats

- Half cup coconut flour
- Quarter cup chia seeds
- “Unlimited” cocoa \(more info\)
- Quarter cup chocolate bites/cacao nibs
- Two cups SANE coconut milk
- Quarter cup flax seeds

LOW-FRUCTOSE FRUITS (0 TO 3 SERVINGS PER DAY)

A serving is the size of your fist. Most people would stop eating naturally at two servings in a single sitting. It is practically impossible to over eat berries and citrus fruits. The food would become unappetizing. The first orange would be tasty. The second one would be good. The third one would be tiresome. The fourth wouldn't be appealing.

Examples of a single serving of low-fructose fruits:

- Six strawberries
- Half of a grapefruit
- One orange
- Half cup of blueberries

LEGUMES/BEANS (0 TO 1 SERVING PER DAY)

A serving is the size of your fist.

OTHER FRUITS (0 TO 1 SERVING PER DAY)

A serving is the size of your fist.

MOST DAIRY (0 TO 1 SERVING PER DAY)

A serving of butter is the size of the tip of your thumb (one tsp.). A serving of cheese is about the size of your thumb. A serving of milk and yogurt is one cup (8 oz.). Most people could easily eat four servings of butter or cheese but only a serving or two of milk or yogurt in a single sitting. Baked goods can saturate you with butter before you know it. Every time anyone eats pizza, they are likely eating over four servings of cheese. Butter and cheese are easy to overeat.

OTHER FATS (0 TO 1 SERVING PER DAY)

A serving is a conventional fatty steak or dark meat that is the size of your hand. A tablespoon of oil is a serving. Coconut oil is the SANEst oil.

Barring men trying to “prove something,” most people would stop eating fatty meat naturally at two servings in a single sitting. Yet it is extremely easy to over eat oil. Eat anything fried and you will easily eat at least four servings of oil.

STARCH/STARCHY VEGETABLES (0 SERVINGS PER DAY)

Serving sizes vary. The key point is that a serving of starch is small. For example, a medium bag of popcorn contains eight servings. Starches are extremely easy to over eat because they are dry, relatively low in fiber, and protein poor. Most people over eat starch daily without knowing it. When ranchers want to fatten livestock, they stop feeding their cows non-starchy vegetables and start feeding them starch (generally corn). If you do not want to fatten yourself, avoid starch.

TIP: As a general rule, if it is not sweet, does not need to be refrigerated, and take a long time to spoil, it likely fits in this group.

TIP: As a general rule, if you can't find it directly in nature (aka there's no such thing as a bread bush) and it is not sweet, it likely fits in this group.

The number of starch servings in common foods:

- inSANE baked goods → Four servings | Baked potato → Three servings
French fries → Four servings | Pasta and rice → Four servings

SWEETS/SWEETENED DRINKS (0 SERVINGS PER DAY)

Ten grams of “sugar” (anything with calories which is added to food to make it sweeter) is a serving. Sweets are the easiest food to over eat. Some sweeteners aren’t even recognized as food by the body and never trigger a full feeling. This is why you can take in three servings of sweets by drinking a soda and still have plenty of room for a super-sized value meal. Traditional portions of sweets and sweetened drinks contain three to eight servings of sweets. The fastest way to gain fat and damage your health is to eat and drink sweeteners.

TIP: If it is sweet, does not need to be refrigerated, and take a long time to spoil, it likely fits in this group.

TIP: If you can’t find it directly in nature and it is sweet, it likely fits in this group

NOTE: Natural non-caloric sweeteners such as stevia, erythritol, xylitol, and luo han guo do not count as a serving of anything. You can find these in your SANESolution.com/store.

The number of sweetener servings in common foods:

- Can of soda → Three servings | Desserts → Four servings
- Sweetened cereal → Four servings | Candy → Three servings
- Store-bought fruit juice → Three servings

SO MUCH TO LOOK FORWARD TO...

You will learn much more about this as we start your personal weight-loss plan together in your free half-day Masterclass (reserve your seat at SANESeminar.com), but here are a few key reminders as you're getting started on your SANE journey.

SANE eating is a lifelong, enjoyable, sustainable, simple, and delicious way of eating. It is not a repackaging of the unsustainable calorie counting diets that failed you.

I know you understand this already—otherwise you wouldn't be here—but please keep in mind that since SANE isn't a calorie counting diet, you will not suffer through the same calorie counting tools and resources that failed you in the past. For example, memorizing endless food lists and following unrealistic minute-by-minute meal plans aren't just a pain—they cannot work in the real world, and they cannot work long term.

Life is crazy. Things happen. And heck, people have different tastes in food, so while minute-by-minute “eat exactly this right now no matter what” endless lists might make for good reality TV, if they worked in the real world, you would have already met your goals. To get a different result (long-term fat loss and robust health), you MUST take a different approach. That's what you will find here.

If you approach your new SANE life calmly, gradually, and with the next 30 years in mind rather than the next 30 days, you will learn the underlying principles that enable you to make the SANE choices easily—forever.

Think of your new approach as the difference between memorizing the sum of every possible combination of numbers versus learning the underlying principles of how addition works. Once you understand addition, lists and memorization aren't necessary as you know what to do with any combination of numbers—forever.

The same thing applies with food. Once you understand the new science of SANE eating, you will know exactly what to eat (and what to avoid) everywhere you go—forever—without any lists or any memorization.

This new approach changes everything and will forever free you from all the confusing and conflicting weight-loss information you've been told. So please allow me to congratulate you on coming to the life-changing realization that to get different results than you've gotten in the past, you must take a different approach than you used in the past!

The great news is that when you combine a calm, gradual, long-term, and progress vs. perfection mindset with your scientifically proven SANE tools, program, and coaching, you are guaranteed to burn belly fat, boost energy, and enjoy an unstoppable sense of self-confidence!

Your new SANE lifestyle has helped over 100,000 people in over 37 countries burn fat and boost health long-term....and it will do the same for you if you let it and trust it.

Thank you for taking the road less travelled...it will make all the difference!
